COMING SOON! Seatbelt for Jira - Seatbelt codifies Ariel's proven Agile governance framework, which was recently used at the Social Security Administration(SSA) for an Agency-wide assessment. Seatbelt for Jira improves the predictability and visibility of software development by improving the quality of data that is used to make critical decisions. This free plug in via the Atlassian Marketplace enables each Jira project to create and enforce a set of business rules that automatically flag late, inaccurate, or incomplete data within Jira.

"Organizations can improve the delivery of value by identifying and actively managing value streams."

– CTO of Ariel Partners, Craeg Strong

Our CTO, Craeg Strong, is looking forward to co-training with Klaus Leopold in Flight Levels Training in 2023. The first class in this training series (FL2D) focuses on Value Stream Management (VSM), which enables organizations to dramatically improve their ability to manage dependencies and coordinate the end-to-end flow of work across teams and even divisions. This hands-on training is loaded with tons of examples from insurance, banking, media, human resources, information technology, and more. We will teach a simple set of techniques, grounded in sound principles of Agile and Kanban. This approach enables organizations to make measurable improvements without resorting to layoffs, massive reorganizations, or other draconian measures. This class will be followed by our second training (FL3D) which will focus on organizational strategy and portfolio Kanban system design. Finally the third training class (FLSA) demonstrates how to join all of these systems together to create a fully integrated organization connecting strategy to execution in a lightweight but powerful way.
